PACIFIC MILL SUES

(From Friday's First Edition.)
The Portland Oregonian of April 11 publishes the following:

A suit against Inman, Poulsen & Co. for $162,721 damages was filed in the State Circuit Court yesterday by the Pacific Mill Company, of Honolulu, for alleged breach of contract to ship Oregon pine lumber to Honolulu.

The complaint recites that the Pacific Mill Company was engaged in the business of selling lumber and building material, and that Inman, Poulsen & Co., desiring to sell a large amount of lumber in the foreign markets, sent a representative to Hawaii with the result that the Pacific Mill Company, in August, 1901, increased its capital stock from $12,000 to $50,000, and also secured a lease of certain railroad land, and agreed to buy all its Oregon lumber from Inman, Poulsen & Co., at the lowest wholesale current market prices prevailing on the Pacific Coast. In consideration of these things it is alleged that Inman, Poulsen & Co. subscribed to $15,000 stock in the mill company, and it was agreed that the defendant should name one employee of the plaintiff who should hold the office of secretary and manager of the lumbering department, at a salary not to exceed $150 per month. Inman, Poulsen & Co. it is alleged, was to attend to the chartering of all vessels to carry the lumber from Portland to Honolulu.

It is charged that the Portland company neglected to perform its part of the contract, and it became necessary for Emmet May, president of the Pacific Mill Company, to come to San Francisco, where an interview was had with Johan Poulsen, on October 28, 1901, who, it is said, promised Mr. May to carry out the contract, and chartered and sent two vessels loaded with lumber to Honolulu. Before the arrival of the vessels and lumber at that port, it is alleged that Inman, Poulsen & Co. repudiated the contract, refused to let the Pacific Mill Company have the lumber, and instead disposed of it otherwise.

The company asserts that because of its failure to receive lumber, which could have been sold at a large profit, it sustained damages to the extent of over $162,000.

On account of a lease made by the Oahu Railway & Land Company, which it had to break, and losses sustained by the increase of the capital stock from $12,000 to $50,000, other damages are figured at $15,000. A lawyer appears as attorney for the Pacific Mill Company.

Potter Palmer's Death a Mystery

Chicago, May 4.—Potter Palmer, for nearly half a century one of Chicago's most prominent business men, died to night at his residence on Lake Shore drive. The exact cause of Mr. Palmer's death has not yet been determined. He had been suffering for several weeks from a nervous disorder, but as he was able to be about the house his condition was not thought to be serious.

When he retired last night he was feeling, if anything, better than for several days. During the night, however, he seemed to lose all his energy, and this morning was unable to leave his room. He gradually grew weaker during the day and at 5:40 o'clock this evening he suffered a sudden collapse from which he expired. The physicians who were attending Mr. Palmer are at a loss as to the ultimate cause of his death, as apparently he had no organic troubles.

SHUASHI TALKS ON THE NEW STEAMERS

(From Friday's First Edition.)

Among the passengers who went through in the Nippon Maru was M. Shuashi who for three years has been the manager of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha Co.'s branch in San Francisco. He goes to Japan, having been called there by the president of the company. Mr. Shuashi has with him several plans and bids for the new steamers which the company contemplates having built. When seen by a Bulletin reporter just before the Nippon left, he gave the following information on the subject:

"We intend to have two or possibly three new boats of the latest and best pattern. We have asked for bids from firms in Japan, England and America and are now beginning to receive bids from various concerns."

"As we have not received all the bids, we expect we are not able to tell where we will place our order. The steamers are to be 12,000 tons apiece or twice the size of the Nippon Maru, which is 6,000 tons. The new boats will be built on the same lines as those at present in the service but will have a speed of 19 knots, while the Nippon only has 17 knots."

"When completed, these boats will be the finest steamers in the Pacific. They will travel on the same run as the Nippon now does, to San Francisco via Honolulu."

"Although it is impossible to tell just how soon the ship yards will be able to turn out the boats, we expect to have them ready in a couple of years."

CELEBRATED VICTORY

(From Friday's First Edition.)

Captain Samuel Johnson is certainly an successful at entertaining as he is at drilling his prize company. This fact he clearly demonstrated at a luau given by him and his company in the drill shed last night in celebration of the victory won by them in the prize drill of Saturday last out of which they came with the splendid record of 98 points. There were present besides the members of the company, the officers of the other companies and the officers of the regiment itself, besides a few outside invited guests included among whom were Col. J. H. Boyd, Superintendent of Public Works; W. W. Harris, representative-elect of the Republican party from the Fourth District, and Senator Clarence Crabbe who is a great enthusiast on military matters.

The mauka end of the drill shed was very tastefully decorated for the occasion, ferns and flags being almost entirely used. About the walls were festoons of ferns and here and there were flags and pennants livened up the solid mass of green. Screening the lanquet portion of the hall from the other was a curtain of flags, prominent among which were the American and Hawaiian flags.

The crowning feature of the decorations was the cup which was won by Co. F on Saturday last. This was set up about six feet from the floor directly in front of what used to be the stage of the drill shed, and in front of it was a bunch of carnations and an illuminated card showing the percentages made by Co. F for the past three years. Behind the cup was a large picture of the company taken on the steps of the Capitol building.

It was about 8:15 o'clock when the military men and their guests sat down to a sumptuous Hawaiian feast prepared by Hawaiians and set in very attractive style. There was everything that a Hawaiian usually has on his table when he is giving a particularly swell luau. There were five tables in all. The head table was occupied by Captain Johnson and the officers of the regiment and the companies thereof, together with the other invited guests already mentioned. The three tables running from this and the table occupying the same relative position opposite, were occupied by the members of the victorious company.

Included among those at the head table were the following: Captain Johnson, Superintendent of Public Works J. H. Boyd, Senator Crabbe, Representative-elect W. W. Harris, Col. J. Walter Jones, Major Ziegler, Major Camara, Captain Campbell, Captain Gustave Rose, Captain Riley, Captain Nahora Hipa, Captain Schaefer, Captain Marston Campbell, Captain James Thompson, Lieut. A. L. Moore, Lieut. J. K. Mauloa, Lieut. Kekaulike, Lieut. Leslie and Frazier.

After about three-quarters of an hour at the table, the speechmaking began and there was a flow of words in a strain complimentary to Co. F. Among those who spoke were Messrs. Boyd and Harris, Col. Jones, Major Ziegler, Major Camara, Captain Campbell, Captain Rose, Captain Hipa, Captain Johnson, Captain Thompson and Captain Riley.

The luau broke up at about 10 o'clock everyone present voting Captain Samuel Johnson and the members of his company the very best of hosts.

The pleasure of the evening was heightened by the presence of the Moana quintet club which played and sang Hawaiian music during the progress of the luau.
